Today's Program...

Dale Leslie

University of Michigan Football:

Dale Leslie introduced today's speaker Jerry Hanlon, former offensive line coach at UM during the Bo Schembechler era. Originally from Ohio, Jerry played his college football at Miami University as a halfback during 1953-55 on teams that won two Mid-American Conference Championships under Ara Parseghian. During 1969-1991 he worked under Bo Schembechler as an offensive line coach after which he was a game radio announcer with Frank Beckman on WJR from 1993 through 1995.

Jerry expressed that football is still the "greatest game a young man can play". It requires a huge commitment resulting in development of many important life-long traits making players better people. He described his interactions with Jim Harbaugh during his time as a player and how he was even asked to be the quarterback coach for some of those years. As a player Harbaugh was "tough on his receivers" and demanded more from them. Jerry's main challenge was to teach "Jimmy" that he was the quarterback and not the coach. This took over half a season, but eventually worked out well.

Jerry's relationship with Bo was tempestuous which he attributes to them both being very stubborn people. The two were never allowed to be together on the sideline during a game and were always kept apart by Jerry being confined to the press box. The communication line between the two during a game was X-rated. Jerry noted that the secret to his survival was always being hired one more time than being fired. Although the relationship was complicated he said that despite numerous "knock down drag out fights" he believed that he and Bo were always meant to work together; and of course there were many great teams that resulted. He said that first-year players were always scared to death of Bo. Second year players always hated him. But by the time they graduated they all loved him.

He said that the game of football is very different today than it was during those years. Today it's all about money, and the TV networks control the schedules. As for the coming season, he believes UM is in for a good season. He also said he still enjoys occasional opportunities to visit with Harbaugh.

Announcements...

- Today's meeting was convened by Past President John Goff.
- Sale of KCD? Past President John Goff announced that the Board received and accepted a recent letter from the Strategic Planning Committee recommending that the Downtown location of Ann Arbor Kiwanis be put up for sale. A related letter (email) went out to the membership a few days ago. It was mentioned that a final decision on this would require a vote by the Club membership, and approval would require a 2/3 majority of those present at a Monday meeting to be held on September 19th. Prior to the vote several Monday meetings (August 29, September 6 and 12) will be set aside to fully discuss the full gravity of the proposal and allow extensive input from the full membership. It was emphasized that the vote could be postponed if members were not clear on all the details related to why this proposal has been suggested in the first place. It was also noted that a plan is already underway to begin moving at least some of our clothing inventory out to KCW, regardless of whether a building sale is approved.
- Jerry McMahon noted the new Mentoring Web Site as www.KiwanisXmas365.com. Looks nice... take a look.
- Interclubs—No interclubs until September.
- Don't forget to act on Alan Burg's committee volunteering memo (pages 6-8 in this newsletter). The memo will be repeated in the newsletter through August 31.

Fines...

None? There should be a fine for that.

Happy Dollars...

Harry Cross for having a free airline pass (for a second person). See him if you are interested. Ray Argyle visited Oshkosh for a pilot convention and had a great time. Dick Smit brought attention to some unique donations to men's clothing. Dave Hughes, who is getting married this month bought his fiancé a new washer-dryer, which prompted her to move in a month earlier than planned. Good idea Dave. John Sampselle told a joke about two dead guys. Jerry McMahon for the new mentoring program website getting 857 hits already. Larry Hill for his wife's retirement and the opportunity to do some travelling. Dave Drake for his trip to the International Speedway related to the Make-a-Wish Foundation and seeing multiple people finish their 300-mile bike rides. Bill Robb for showing us a new trick for making our microphone work. Dave LaMoreaux for a great trip to Iceland and for his neighbor who is today's speaker.

Stuff You Should Know...
